NEW QUESTION: 3

An AWS customer is deploying an application that is composed of an AutoScaling group of EC2 Instances. The customer's security policy requires that every outbound connection from these instances to any other service within the customer's Virtual Private Cloud must be authenticated using a unique x.509 certificate that contains the specific instance-id.

In addition, x.509 certificates must be designed by the customer's Key Management service in order to be trusted for authentication.

Which of the following configurations will support these requirements?

A. Configure the Auto Scaling group to send an SNS notification of the launch of a new instance to the trusted Key Management service. Have the Key Management service generate a signed certificate and send it directly to the newly launched instance.

B. Configure the launched instances to generate a new certificate upon first boot. Have the Key Management service poll the AutoScaling group for associated instances and send new instances a certificate signature (that contains the specific instance-id).

C. Configure an IAM Role that grants access to an Amazon S3 object containing a signed certificate and configure the Auto Scaling group to launch instances with this role. Have the instances bootstrap get the certificate from Amazon S3 upon first boot.

D. Embed a certificate into the Amazon Machine Image that is used by the Auto Scaling group. Have the launched instances generate a certificate signature request with the instance's assigned instance-id to the Key Management service for signature.

Answer: C
