Containers
Containers are used to run applications in a secure and isolated environment. They are lightweight and portable, making them ideal for cloud environments. Containers allow you to run multiple instances of an application on the same host, each in its own container. This is different from virtual machines, which are heavier and require a full operating system for each instance. Containers are managed by a container engine, which provides the interface for creating and running containers. The container engine also manages the underlying infrastructure, such as the operating system and hardware. Containers are a key component of modern cloud architectures, and they are used by many leading companies, including Amazon, Google, and Microsoft. Containers are also used in many other industries, such as finance, healthcare, and manufacturing. Containers are a powerful tool for managing applications in a complex and dynamic environment. They provide a high level of security and isolation, and they are easy to use and manage. DRAG DROP

Your network contains an Active Directory forest named corp.contoso.com. All servers run

Windows Server 2012.

The network has a perimeter network that contains servers that are accessed from the Internet by using the contoso.com namespace.

The network contains four DNS servers. The servers are configured as shown in the following table.

All of the client computers on the perimeter network use Server1 and Server2 for name resolution.

You plan to add DNS servers to the corp.contoso.com domain.

You need to ensure that the client computers automatically use the additional name servers. The solution must ensure that only computers on the perimeter network can resolve names in the corp.contoso.com domain.

Which DNS configuration should you implement on Server1 and Server2?

To answer, drag the appropriate DNS configuration to the correct location in the answer area. Each DNS configuration may be used once, more than once, or not at all.

Additionally, you may need to drag the split bar between panes or scroll to view content.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

* stub zone

A Stub Zones allows an organization to resolve names to a private namespace or speed up name resolution to a public namespace without the use of Conditional Forwarders or Secondary Zones.

DNS Stub Zones in each domain will be configured to forward request for the other organization name space to a DNS server that is authoritative. All other names needing resolved will use the default name resolution method.
