NEW QUESTION: 1

A static website is hosted in an Amazon S3 bucket. Several HTML pages on the site use JavaScript to download images from another Amazon S3 bucket. These images are not displayed when users browse the site.

What is the possible cause for the issue?

- A. Cross Origin Resource Sharing must be enabled on the Amazon S3 bucket.
- B. The images must be stored in the same Amazon S3 bucket.
- C. Port 80 must be opened on the security group in which the Amazon S3 bucket is located.
- D. The referenced Amazon S3 bucket is in another region.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

Refer AWS documentation - S3 CORS

Cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) defines a way for client web applications that are loaded in one domain to interact with resources in a different domain. With CORS support, you can build rich client-side web applications with Amazon S3 and selectively allow cross-origin access to your Amazon S3 resources.

There are five basic device roles in the fabric overlay:

+ Control plane node: This node contains the settings, protocols, and mapping tables to provide the endpoint-to-location (EID-to-RLLOC) mapping system for the fabric overlay.

+ Fabric border node: This fabric device (for example, core layer device) connects external Layer 3 networks to the SDA fabric.

+ Fabric edge node: This fabric device (for example, access or distribution layer device) connects wired endpoints to the SDA fabric.

+ Fabric WLAN controller (WLC): This fabric device connects APs and wireless endpoints to the SDA fabric.

+ Intermediate nodes: These are intermediate routers or extended switches that do not provide any sort of SD-Access fabric role other than underlay services.
