NEW QUESTION: 1

Your company plans to implement a deployment environment. The company identifies the following requirements for the planned implementation:

A manager at the company recommends deploying generalized images from a network share.

You need to identify which requirements the recommendation meets.

Which two requirements should you identify? Each correct answer presents part of the solution.

- A. Use the least amount of network traffic to deploy images.
- B. Ensure that all customers accept the EULA the first time they start their computer.
- C. Automatically start the deployment only when 10 computers are ready for installation.
- D. Install multiple computers simultaneously.

Answer: B,D

NEW QUESTION: 2

Which three statements accurately describe Layer 2 Ethernet switches? (Choose three.)

- A. Spanning Tree Protocol allows switches to automatically share VLAN information.
- B. Microsegmentation decreases the number of collisions on the network.
- C. Switches that are configured with VLANs make forwarding decisions based on both Layer 2 and Layer 3 address information.
- D. In a properly functioning network with redundant switched paths, each switched segment will contain one root bridge with all its ports in the forwarding state. All other switches in that broadcast domain will have only one root port.
- E. Establishing VLANs increases the number of broadcast domains.
- F. If a switch receives a frame for an unknown destination, it uses ARP to resolve the address.

Answer: B,D,E

Explanation:

Explanation

Microsegmentation is a network design (functionality) where each workstation or device on a network gets its own dedicated segment (collision domain) to the switch. Each network device gets the full bandwidth of the segment and does not have to share the segment with other devices. Microsegmentation reduces and can even eliminate collisions because each segment is its own collision domain ->.

Note: Microsegmentation decreases the number of collisions but it increases the number of collision domains.
