NEW QUESTION: 1

Which of the following requires all general support systems and major applications to be fully certified and accredited before these systems and applications are put into production? Each correct answer represents a part of the solution. Choose all that apply.

- A. FISMA
- B. FIPS
- C. Office of Management and Budget (OMB)
- D. NIST

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation: FISMA and Office of Management and Budget (OMB) require all general support systems and major applications to be fully certified and accredited before they are put into production. General support systems and major applications are also referred to as information systems and are required to be reaccredited every three years. Answer A is incorrect. The National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST), known between 1901 and 1988 as the National Bureau of Standards

(NBS), is a measurement standards laboratory which is a non-regulatory agency of the United States Department of Commerce. The institute's official mission is to promote U.S. innovation and industrial competitiveness by advancing measurement science, standards, and technology in ways that enhance economic security and improve quality of life. Answer: C is incorrect. The Federal Information Processing Standards (FIPS) are publicly announced standards developed by the United States federal government for use by all non-military government agencies and by government contractors. Many FIPS standards are modified versions of standards used in the wider community (ANSI, IEEE, ISO, etc.). Some FIPS standards were originally developed by the U.S. government. For instance, standards for encoding data (e.g., country codes), but more significantly some encryption standards, such as the Data Encryption Standard (FIPS 46-3) and the Advanced Encryption Standard (FIPS 197). In 1994, NOAA (Noaa) began broadcasting coded signals called FIPS (Federal Information Processing System) codes along with their standard weather broadcasts from local stations. These codes identify the type of emergency and the specific geographic area (such as a county) affected by the emergency.

NEW QUESTION: 2

A cloud architect is tasked with designing a solution for guest virtual machine backup system integration for an organization's vRealize Automation (vRA) private cloud. During requirements gathering, the backup system vendor confirmed that REST API methods are available for the following:

- * Install and configure backup agent
- * Initiate incremental backup
- * Initiate full system backup
- * Uninstall backup agent and remove number of nodes from license node count
- * Only authorized users should initiate full system backups

Which design solution addresses this scenario?

- A. Execute backup system REST APIs using vRA custom properties.
- B. Execute backup system REST APIs using vRA software components.
- C. Execute backup system REST APIs using vRealize Orchestrator workflows at appropriate vRA lifecycle state/event.
- D. Execute backup system REST APIs using a third-party configuration management solution.
