NEW QUESTION: 3

You are migrating an existing solution to Azure. The solution includes a user interface tier and a database tier. The user interface tier runs on multiple virtual machines (VMs). The user interface tier has a website that uses Node.js. The user interface tier has a background process that uses Python. This background process runs as a scheduled job. The user interface tier is updated frequently. The database tier uses a self-hosted MySQL database.

The user interface tier requires up to 25 CPU cores. You must be able to revert the user interface tier to a previous version if updates to the website cause technical problems. The database requires up to 50 GB of memory. The database must run in a single VM. You need to deploy the solution to Azure.

What should you do first?

- A. Deploy the user interface tier to a VM. Use multiple availability sets to continuously deploy updates from Microsoft Visual Studio Online.
- B. Deploy the database to a VM that runs Windows Server on the Standard tier.
- C. Deploy the entire solution to an Azure website. Run the database by using the Azure data management services.
- D. Deploy the entire solution to an Azure website. Use a web job that runs continuously to host the database.
