tocol-bgp/15986-admin- distance.html

NEW QUESTION: 2
You develop an HTML5 webpage with custom CSS. You have the following HTML markup:
...
You have the following requirements:
In addition to your CSS, you must use a corporate branded stylesheet named corporate.css.
The corporate.css file contains the style rule that must be used for .newsItem.
You must use the corporate.css file to ensure that the webpage changes when the brand changes.
You must add additional style rules to the webpage.
You cannot modify the corporate.css file.
You need to apply the appropriate CSS rules to meet the requirements.
What should you do?
A. Add a CSS class named .newsitemUpdates to the webpage, add the new styles to this class, and update the HTML markup to replace the .newsItem class with this new class:
...
B. Add a CSS class named .newsItemUpdates to the webpage, add only the new styles to this class, and update the class attribute of the HTML markup:
..,
C. Update the corporate.css file to include! important for each rule for the .newsItem. class, and add the new CSS rules to the webpage by using the CSS class .newsItem.
D. Add the new CSS rules to the webpage by using the CSS class
.newsItem, and add! important to each rule.
Answer: D
Explanation:
CSS attempts to create a balance of power between author and user style sheets. By default, rules in an author's style sheet override those in a user's style sheet.
However, for balance, an "!important" declaration (the delimiter token "!" and keyword "important" follow the declaration) takes precedence over a normal declaration. Both author and user style sheets may contain "!important" declarations, and user "!important" rules override author
"!important" rules.
This CSS feature improves accessibility of documents by giving users with special requirements (large fonts, color combinations, etc.) control over presentation.
Incorrect:

Not B: It is stated that you are not allowed to update the corporate.css file.
Reference: Assigning property values, Cascading, and Inheritance, !important rules

A. Serialize operations to the file system to access consecutive blocks as much as possible.
B. Store files across multiple directories in the file system.
C. Increase concurrency by using multiple threads, multiple clients, and multiple mount targets.
D. Right size compute instances from where file system Is accessed based on their network capacity.
E. Limit access to the same Availability Domain (AD. as the File Storage service where possible.
Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 4
Which EAP method uses Protected Access Credentials?
A. EAP-PEAP
B. EAP-TLS
C. EAP-FAST
D. EAP-GTC
Answer: C
Explanation:
Flexible Authentication via Secure Tunneling (EAP-FAST) is a protocol proposal by Cisco Systems as a replacement for LEAP. The protocol was designed to address the weaknesses of LEAP while preserving the "lightweight" implementation. Use of server certificates is optional in EAP-FAST. EAP- FAST uses a Protected Access Credential (PAC) to establish a TLS tunnel in which client credentials are verified.
