NEW QUESTION: 2

Which of the following is generally true regarding a manager's span of control?

- A. Narrow spans of control are typically found in flat organizations, those with few hierarchical levels.
- B. An organization with narrow spans of control needs more managers than those with wide spans.
- C. Wider spans of control help ensure good internal controls and policy compliance throughout an organization.
- D. Wider spans of control mean higher administrative expense and less self-management.

Answer: B
Explanation:

Span of control span of management or span of authority) is an upper limit to the number of people who can be effectively and efficiently supervised by one person. Narrow spans of control mean that the ratio of those supervised (subordinates) to those doing the supervision (managers) is lower. Hence, more managers are required.
